continues to grow*

About AFIA

The Australian Fodder Industry Association (AFIA) is the peak body for the Australian fodder industry connecting all sectors of the supply chain from seed to feed.

Since AFIA was established in 1996 our network has worked to help the fodder industry grow through sharing information, assisting trade, and promoting research and development. We work closely with government regulators and industry to ensure our members have a favourable environment to do business in.

In 2007 the fodder industry had an estimated value of $1.5 billion, a figure that continues to grow assisted by AFIA's work. Over the past 15 years the export industry alone has grown from 100,000mt to more than 700,000mt of fodder products exported.

The fodder industry is one of the most important industries in Australian agriculture, underpinning production in dairy, livestock and the export hay industry.

"AFIA keeps me up to date with all the latest in fodder industry technology and market intelligence, as well as being the only dedicated network for fodder industry professionals in Australia."

– Jarrod O'Sullivan, AFIA Member, O'Sullivan Farms, Elmore Victoria.

Our Mission

To provide leadership to the Australian fodder industry and, by engaging members and stakeholders, ensure a favourable environment for members to do business in.

What does AFIA do?

- AFIA is the voice for the fodder industry in Australia
- Works with government, regulators and other industry bodies on behalf of members tackling industry issues including transport, research and development, safety, and market access
- Provides extension work on fodder related information through our regional fodder grower updates
- Provides forums for the fodder industry to discuss important industry matters and concerns through the National Fodder Conference and industry workshops
- Provides fodder market information
- Provides a platform for members to actively network through events, tours and online

AFIA member benefits include:

- The ability to actively shape the future of AFIA and the Australian fodder industry
- Access to the latest in fodder industry news and information
- Member rates to attend AFIA event; the Australian National Fodder Conference, overseas study tours and AFIA grower updates
- Marketing support for your business on the AFIA website Classifieds
- Special member discounts for services that will help improve your fodder business like Fodder Care and Workplace IR support.
- Subscription to quarterly publication Focus on Fodder

Become a member of AFIA today and access the only national network of fodder industry professionals in Australia. If you are a grower, contractor, exporter, researcher, or service provider with a business that relies on the Australian Fodder Industry this is the network that will help grow your business.
